THE PEKING SYNDICATE AGAIN

A fortnight ago we (the Investors' Review) expressed bewilderment over this wonderful erection and asked for light. Mr George-Cawston seems to have attempted to meet this demand at the extraordinary general meeting of the syndicate held on Tuesday last, and we have read his statement with great attention. Perhaps it is, our obtuseness, but we confess to being about as much in the dark as ever. We know that 1,500,000 new shares or 'parts,' to be called 'Shansi' shares, have been created and allotted, but cannot ascertain where they strengthen the financial resources of the company.

Is any money paid for these shares ! Is the promium part of this capital, or is it something different? What is the distinction between the million and a half ' parts' forming a 'trust' and the million shares to be sold at 5 per cent, premium? We cannot unravel it, still less are we ablu to fathom such a sentence as this; 'As to be untilised for the benefit of the syndi-priated for obtaining the subscriptions already mentioned. Subscriptions, that is to say, and if we are not mistaken, of the two amounts of £100,000 in the 1,000,000

Shansi shares. What is the juggle behind all this we should like to know, and why, "cannot money be raised straightforwardly to work this concession if the kale vobject of the pro-motors behind the syndicate is to make it a profitable thing as an iron and coal industry! We do not absolutely know, but we strongly suspect that these 1,500,000 to 10 per cent, of the profits of the company arising from the Shansi concession until such percentiges shall amount to £1 per share on the shares issued, and to half the surplus profits afterwards- are to the extent of £1 per part, at all events, really promoters' trimmittgs. Is this so, or is it not? Why cannot we get a plain, straightforward an-

"Dear Bir,—I am a poor hand at expressing my feelings, but I should like to thank you. Your lezenges have done wonders in relieving my terrible cough. Since I had the operation of Tracheotomy (the same as the late Empanor of Germany, and unlike him, thank God, I am still alive) performed at 8t. Bartholomew's Hospital, no one could possibly have had a more violent cough; it was so bad at times that it quite exhausted me. The mucous, which was very copious and hard, has been softened, and I have been able to get rid of it without difficulty.—I am, sir, yours truly, J. HILL."

WE have to thank a Canton reader-we are sorry we cannot refer to him as a subscriber-for the appreciative references to our leading article of Saturday last and for the newspaper cutting he so kindly sends us. It is interesting to know that the native press of India is able to take such a broad and liberal view of Imperial British politics, and we can only regret that pressure on our space provents us from reproducing a tonth part of the articles and newspaper cuttings sent us by appreciative and well meaning readers. We are always pleased to hear from our Coast Port friends, and would take this opportunity of pointing out that we have always a corner open for original contributions.

Li Tai, a clerk in the employment of the P- and O. Pridered due at Singapore on or about the soner was allowed bail of $3000, and was taken into the prisoners' room at the Magistracy pending the payment of the money by his friends. While the prisoner was sitting in the room, Mr N. G. Nolan, ar officer of the Court, overheard some of the prisoner's friends in the compound outside remark-' What's $3.0.67 He'll clear out.' The Chinese then ran away, presumably to obtain the money. Inspector Moffat reported the matter to Commander Hastings, who ordered the prisoner to be again brought before him. Evidence was given of what had occurred. Commander Hastinga said the bail was fixed to ensure the prisoner remaining in the Colony. not to allow him to run away. The bail money would be increased to $7,000.

On 6th September, a court martial assembled on board the receiving ship Tumar to hear a charge against William Ashwell, A.D. of the Zowerful, of shiking a nuperior officer. THE HONGKONG SHANGHAI CRICKET MATCH.

INTERVIEW WITH DR J. A. LOWSON. Our sporting editor interviewed Dr Low son this forenoon on the prospects of the cricket team going to Shanghai on the 21s inst. to do buttle For-Hongkong on 'the tented field.

In answer to our questions, Dr Lowson said -- Oh, we've no batting, no bowling, no fielding, but we have an umpire-Mr James McKis-going with us, who will do a great deal to help us. Our scorer, Mr Hough, will also, no doubt, do his duty."

· Have you selected your team, yet? No; not yet. We have had several political difficulties to get over, but I think we'll have a fair squad when all is settled Yea; if Hancock minor and Campbell of the Gunners had got away we would have been stronger all round. Bowling famentably weak, but it is no use crying about it. We hope to beat the northerners at golf and tennis, if we get a show. Anton and I will run the former, while Campbell and Moberly, of the Hongkong Regiment, will give their best a run for their money at Tennis.

--What are the prespects of the local club for the coming neason," we asked

'Fair ! only fair ! was the response, as the Dector assumed his favourite pose and nursed his chin, 'Fortunately, Mr Wise and Mr Jackson and a few more of the Taipans are awakened to the fact that unless they push on their youngstets cricket will soon go to the wall.'

Now, give me your own candid opinion of the prospecta of the Hongkong Eleven at Shanghai.'

. Well ! I'm told some money is being invested on account of Shanghai in connection with this match. You ask what the botting is ? Well, I should may 10 to 1 on Dr Lowson, thanking us cordially for our good wishes, we drifted into the discussion of other subjects.

One thing is clear, when an oracle starts out upon a record-breaking expedition-and Consul Bedloe seems to have no regard to half-measures he should be able to supply full and precise information for the benefit of future generations. 'In this Bedloe case, and in the confused state of mind naturally caused by his triple-expansion patriotism, coupled with his laudable desire to show that he was a friend of dear old Dewey, and of the learned Francis, Q.C., the interviewed has unutterably mixed up sentiment with misstatement. It would have been well had he told the confiding people of the United States-as most people here in the Far East are able to sift and weigh such efforts of 'vellow journalism'-how many thousands of pounds sterling the U.S. Admiralty paid to Mr John, the eminent British mayal architect, for the designs of the first Southampton for re-rivetting and making good defects on the construction of the socalled record-brookers St. Louis and the City of Peking. THE TRAIL OF THE BEAST. THE SOVEREIGNTY OF CHINA AT PORT

Shanghai, Sept. 3.

It was distinctly stated by Russia when she acquired the 'lease' of Port Arthur that she recognised and would continue to recognise the sovereignty of China. A practical illustration of the value of this recognition is now before us. We have been in the habit of franking the copies of the North-China Daily News addressed to Port Arthur with the stamps of the Imperial Chinese Post. On Thursday we received a letter from a subscriber at Port Ar thur complaining that he was obliged to pay double postage when our paper reached him. The Imperial Chinese Postmaster here was unable to explain this; but on reference to the Russian Postmaster here we are informed that Chinese postage stemps are not recognised at Port Arthur, and that all postal matter for that destination must be franked with Russian stamps and sent through the Russian Post Office here. We-fear that there will soon be not much Chinese sovereignty practically recognised in the Liautung Poninsula. - N. Daily News.

It appears that the cement firms are about to adout the same policy. There are ten cement firms in Japan. At one time they did as fine business; when railway building, harbour making, and other en terprises were in a state of feverish activity after the war. - But they have felt the recent depression and have come to the conclusion that their only plan is to combine for the purpose of putting an end to competition among themselves. CONGESTED CONDITION OF THE YARN MARKET.

CHINESE-ADVOCATE SHORT TIME IN BOMBAY

The following telegrams have been interchanged by the Chinese merchants dealing in Indian yarn and the Bombay Millowners Association, through the medium of Mr H. M. Mehta. The reasons assigned by strain, the Chinese merchants for making the request conveyed in their telegram of working the mills in Bombay short time has been principally the heavy accumulation of Indian threads in this market and in Shang hai without having sufficient outlets open for their immediate consumption owing to the rebellion in Kwangsi and Kwangtung. They emphasize the urgoncy of the measure and advocate against the present almost unprecedentedly congested position by the computation of stocks as under :-- Unsold Stock in Hongkong, 55,000 bales Sold Stock in Hongkong, 42,000 tales. Unsold Stock in Shanghai, 32,000 bales. Sold Stock in Shanghai, 18,000 bales. These figures speak for themselves, and as the uncertainty of the duration and course of the rebellion in the two Kwangs in creases, the demoralization in the principal markets is pari mass on the increase; and unless the curtailment of arrivals is effect-

It was impossible, said, to foresee how the strugfor concessions would end, but saw no reason for the pessimistic views entertained in some quarters. Regarding Shantong, Mr Balfour Build; We must treat Gormany as we expect her to treat us.' Referring to Russia, Mr Balfour said he saw no necessity for taking a pessimistic view of the situation, and he would be surprised if the British concession accounts did not get their full share. Mr Balfour's speech appears to have been intended as a statement of the Government's policy in China, which the opposition has been demanding before the close of Parliament. He did not outer into details of the complications, and the drift of his explanation was that the Guvermment's critics expected impossibilities. In the course of his remarks Mr Balfour serious detriment of the Yarn trade in said it could not be pretended that the British empire alone, or in alliance with another comire, could prevent the legitimate development of other commercial and

The China Itail. HONGKONG, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1898 RE-ECHOING the words of his political and family chieftain, Mr Arthur Balfour recently remarked that the commercial value Consular reports would be considerably chamber of commerce, the Imperial In-Per Powen, at 9 a.m., on Sunday, enhanced if the information they supplied were put into practical effect by the persons they are intended to benefit. Without reserve, we agree with Mr Balfour: Hidden away in these Consular reports from China, there is now, and we suppose always has been, a large amount of information, which, if applied by commercial pioneers to the development of new ground and new branches of trade, would have helped to swell the general bulk of trade and proved remunerative to individual firms. We have examples of this in the various small but growing industries in this Colony, nearly all, strangely enough, in the hands of entorprising German firms. It was a subject of remark by the Chamberlain Commission on British Trade that in breaking new fields, in adapting themselves to the conditions of life and requirements of semi-civilised peoples, the Germans were proving successful rivals to Britishers, and in some quarters were actually gaining ground at our expense. This is partly due to one cause. The British trader or manufacturer wants large profits and immediate results. He would rather speculate in a gold mine 10,000 miles away, of which he knows nothing and has heard nothing beyond the glowing report of the inevitable expert, than expend his capital to develop a local industry from which the returns may be slow and at first not very large. We will be surprised if the present talk about the industrial-value of the new-Kowloon territory does not end in talk; if the people who have clamoured for the new territory do not leave it severely alone, trusting to some unknown element to develop th country for them and to fill their pockets without any effort on their part. Passing from the local to the general, we again reiterate that men with capital and energy and enterprise and business acumen car find many a valuable hint in the Consular reports issued by the Foreign Office. But. it may reasonably be said, 'life is too short to devote much time to the study of these reports; there are hundreds of reports yearly from all parts of the world, and the one valuable hint to which you refer may cost many weary hours and days to discover. True. But the Unionist Government has had a Committee of Enquiry at work with a view to suppo a better means of collecting, collating and publishing commercial information for the guidance of merchants and manufacturers so that the lazy or overworked will be ab to lay their fingers on the information that is of value to them with the minimum cost or personal effort. This Committee, presided over by Sir Courtenay Boyle, was appointed by the Board of Trade in July last to consider and advise as to the best

> The Committee proposes the creation a new Governmental Department, bureau or office, to which application may be made for information on industrial, commercial and cognate subjects. To the Board of Trade is the organization and management of this new bureau to be entrusted, with a advisory committee from the Board Trade, the Foreign Office, the Colonial Office, the India Office and a few independent commercial men. Information will be supplied on the payment of fixed fore, samples will be kept for reference, and other ways home manufacturers will be to allow the China Mail to be made the able to acquaint themselves with the requirements of other countries and with methods and articles of their commercial has his remedy through the fairplay chanrivals. The following paragraphs from the nels. Board of Trade Committee's report give some idea of the scope of the new bureky .- Prano Tuning and Repairs, New Music, (a) To collect and focus existing information upon any subjects of commercial interest, whether derived from official or from unofficial sources, and whether relating to British colonies or dependencies or to foreign countries. stitute, and so forth. We come now-to the proposal to send special men to study the industries, manufactures, commerce and conditions of trade of foreign countries. So much depends on the qualifications of the Special Commissioners for this work that it is impossible to say whether this system would produce botter results than a properly-organised system of commercial attaches. There are countries where a globe-trotting 'special' would be able to gather up all the salient features of the country's trade and its commercial possibilities. There are other coun tries where some years of residence and exceptional abilities are requisite, where the representative of the new Commercial Burcan would produce better results by being independent of outside assistance. All recent writers on the trade of China agree that, in spite of some able Consular and Legation reports, our country ought to be represented here by a commercial expert, free to travel about and observe the requirements of the common people and the possibilities for trade expansion. The Foreign Office has admitted the principle and accepted the responsibility, but as yet has not gone far enough. Mr Consul Branan was sention tour in China and Japan. He prepared able reports, much of which, however, must have come from secondhand. He passed some unfavourable but partially-deserved criticisms on British traders in China, leaving out, as an official fettered by official training and traditions, how far lack of official support was responsible for lack of commercial enterprise. Another able Consul, Mr F. S. A. Bourne, has contributed to official commercial literature, and yet another, Mr George Jamieson, whose excellent reports on the finances of China have been of the greatest benefit to many writers on Chinese subjects, 'doubles' the part of Commercial Attaché with Consul-General at Shanghai. This is an unhappy arrangement. It is not likely to produce good results, for the simple reason that the Consul-Goneral at Shanghai is already overworked, and has no time to devote to commercial subjects as such. Mr A. R. Colquhoun, in his China in Transformation, reiterates the auggestion that a Superintendent of Trade should be appointed for China, It is of primary importance, says Mr Colquhoun, that the superintendent of trade should be a "live man," and not the typical bureaucrat bound in red tape, and that he should not rest content with compiling statistics and writing reports, but make it the cardinal point of his duties to place himself in the closest relationship with traders, British and native, throughout the length and breadth of Chine. Such an appointment provided only the right man means of bringing to the knowledge of the were selected, would inspire confidence, home trades the information furnished by stimulate initiative, and lead to substantial Consuls and Commercial Attaches, or other results. Mr Colquhoun has put the mat-Imperial officers, and by Agents-General tor in a nutshell. If British trade in China and other representatives of Colonial Gois to be beneficially affected by the appoint. ment of a real Commercial Attache, leaving and demand and other conditions of the out of consideration lack of ministerial or consular support in developing new fields, the British Government must select a man with special aptitude for the work, pay him liberally, and give him a free hand. The man in favour of the appointment to Orown Cois available if the Government were prepared lonies of an officer whose duty it will be to to select him. He is not an official. His knowledge of China and the Chinese is that the Colonial reports be extended, by probably unequalled; he is gifted with rare intelligence, observation, grasp of including any documents of commercial and detail coupled with breadth of view, is daying yet cautious, has an intimate acquaintance with the Chinese language, and knows: made to the Consular staff, in order to leave where to lay his finger on the information most useful for business purposes.
